Live Tamil Movies Index. Aug 26, 2008 May 18, 2008 .Q: Why does XamlParseException occur when attempting to load a Wpf Window I'm attempting to create a Wpf Application to put together some controls for my site. I can run my application fine from Visual Studio, but when I try to run the same application through the MSI file that I created I get the following error: System.Xaml.XamlParseException: 'Value could not be resolved from text node " I've tried looking at this for 2 days now with no luck, so I'm hoping someone may be able to help. My XAML files are declared in a.xaml file and a.g.cs file, which should be enough to run the application. I've already tried moving around where my.xaml files are located and what code is inside them, in an attempt to see if there was some special characters that needed escaping, or if there was any other reason the exe wouldn't load properly. I'm lost at this point with no other ideas about how to get this to work. Here's the code for my main window:
